

Nothing Is Promised

In life, nothing is promised, and the journey will end
you hope the sun rises, and the day begins.
you walk a straight line, and your heart is on fire your journey is filled with passion and desire.

You have the soul of an angel. You give all you got
You don't ask for much and don't expect a lot
These times are changing, it seems ok to hate.
the world needs a savior, before it's too late.

Nothing is promised, so open up your eyes
In a split second, people lose their lives.
These times are a-changing, we can't lose hope
heads to the sky, no time to mope.

Go about your business, without regret live life to the fullest, you're not dead yet.
So many obstacles, can get in the way
Push them aside, and have a great day.

Have a goal and an angle, shoot your best shot
It won't last forever, so keep the dream hot.
All the king's voices, and all the queen's men
Might fight the power, when you need a friend.

Nothing is promised, so open up your eyes
In a split second, people lose their lives.
These times are a-changing, we can't lose hope
heads to the sky, no time to mope.
Nothing is promised, but little white lies
Under the hood are bellowing cries.
Brighten your day with rays of hope
Don't need no magic or horoscope.

No need to wonder, where time has gone
Don't need to worry, why days are long.
Just stay the course, and work your plan
Joy to the world, salvation's at hand.
Life is a lesson, so plain and so pure
A can of worms, we learn to endure.
The end of the tunnel, is close you see
But nothing is promised, not even me.

2/21/2020