

You could have waited

You were the finest girl in my high school class with gray-green eyes that hypnotize I fell in love so fast.
I was shy with few words to say I had to know your name.
in class we had to sit together
I was my lucky day.

We fell in love so fast it must have been a dream our love would last forever at least that's the way it seemed.
I never had to wonder if you'd break my heart
you lighted up my life from the very start.

You could have waited, but you didn't
You just left me behind
to enjoy my bright sun-shine
You could have waited, but you didn't
don't know what was on your mind
and now you crossed the line.

What the hell was I thinking running off to war leaving you at home alone
I guess I went too far.
It seems your dirty dancing started the day I left my heart was so neglected
I didn't protect myself.

You could have waited, for me ba-by you could have saved, your love for me
You could have waited, for me ba-by secured our destiny.
You could have waited, for me ba-by
Instead of dissing me
You could have waited, for me ba-by
I guess you, don't love me.

You could have waited, but you didn't
You just left me behind
You could have waited, but you didn't
to enjoy my bright sun-shine
You could have waited, but you didn't
don't know what was on your mind
and now you crossed the line.

You could have waited, but you didn't
You just left me behind
You could have waited, but you didn't
to enjoy my bright sun-shine
You could have waited, but you didn't
don't know what was on your mind
You could have waited, but you didn't
and now you crossed the line.
